PRODUCT OVERVIEW

For us, rooms are more than spaces in a home. They are sources of inspiration that transform everyday actions into conscious rituals. The objects used reflect not only the taste, but also the personality, of the inhabitants.

From personalities

Our iconic objects for luxury bathrooms and kitchens are created in collaboration with some of the world's leading designers, whose ideas challenge our perceptual habits and enhance our everyday lives. They live individuality and understand design as an expression of personality.

for personalities

Bathrooms and kitchens are among our most intimate living spaces. We often use them simply to take care of ourselves. Water, an element we use to accomplish this, is a precious resource. Through outstanding design, we give it a form that clearly recognizes and expresses its value.

For almost 30 years, AXOR has been helping architects, interior designers, and discerning customers express their personality. Like no other brand, AXOR has changed the design and our understanding of faucets, as well as bathrooms and kitchens—from functional orientation to spaces with the highest standards of quality, luxury, and individuality.

In the 1990s, design became synonymous with prestige and Klaus Grohe discovered the potential for the sanitation and kitchen industries. This marked the beginning of AXOR's success story as a design brand for more personal bathrooms and kitchens, offering luxurious products created by world-renowned designers.

Antonio Citterio

Master of Elegance

Antonio Citterio has impacted Italian design in a way that few others have. An architect, designer and perfectionist, his signature expresses an unwavering mix of classic shapes and high-end materials. This is why his homeware, lighting, kitchens, bathroom collections, furniture, and architectural designs are in such high demand – from chairs to company headquarters. Always restrained yet always dedicated to one goal: serving function and beauty.

Antonio Citterio was born in the northern Italian town of Meda in 1950. He designed his first piece of furniture in his father's workshop. At the age of 18, he won a prize for a cabinet that he had designed, and at 22, he opened his own design studio while studying architecture at Milan Polytechnic.

Together with Patricia Viel, Antonio Citterio created an interdisciplinary firm for architecture, interior design, and graphic design in 2000. Since then, he has worked for leading international brands – creating luxury hotels, offices and exhibitions, design objects for major furniture manufacturers and residential and commercial complexes worldwide. Antonio Citterio has received numerous awards and has been a professor at the University of Mendrisio's Accademia di Architettura. In 2008, the British Royal Society awarded him "Royal Designer for Industry".

For AXOR, he designed the kitchen faucets for AXOR Citterio Select, AXOR Citterio and AXOR Citterio M, in addition to an accessories program and a variety of bathroom collections.

With a multipurpose pull-out spray, AXOR Citterio Select2jet now offers the home cook two advantages: maximum freedom of movement and the choice between a powerful water jet for quickly filling cooking pots, or a soft shower spray for carefully cleaning fruits and vegetables. Select technology makes it easy to turn the water on and off at the touch of a button. With the swivel spout, perfect for double sinks and combined with the sBox, the action radius of the shower increases to 76 centimeters. This freedom of movement makes it easy to fill large pots, water plants, or clean both basins of the double sink. The pull-out spray is then neatly returned into its MagFit container.

OF AESTHETICS AND MINIMALISM

THE PERSONALITY

Design Visionary

Philippe Starck is synonymous with tireless design and unending inventiveness: from everyday products such as furniture, headphones and citrus-squeezers, from electric bicycles to motorcycles to revolutionary mega-yachts, vibrant interior designs to innovative prefabricated wooden houses. His creations, which number over 10,000, confirm his keen sense for the essential and deep understanding of contemporary change. His works and creative vision are displayed in museums and exhibitions worldwide.

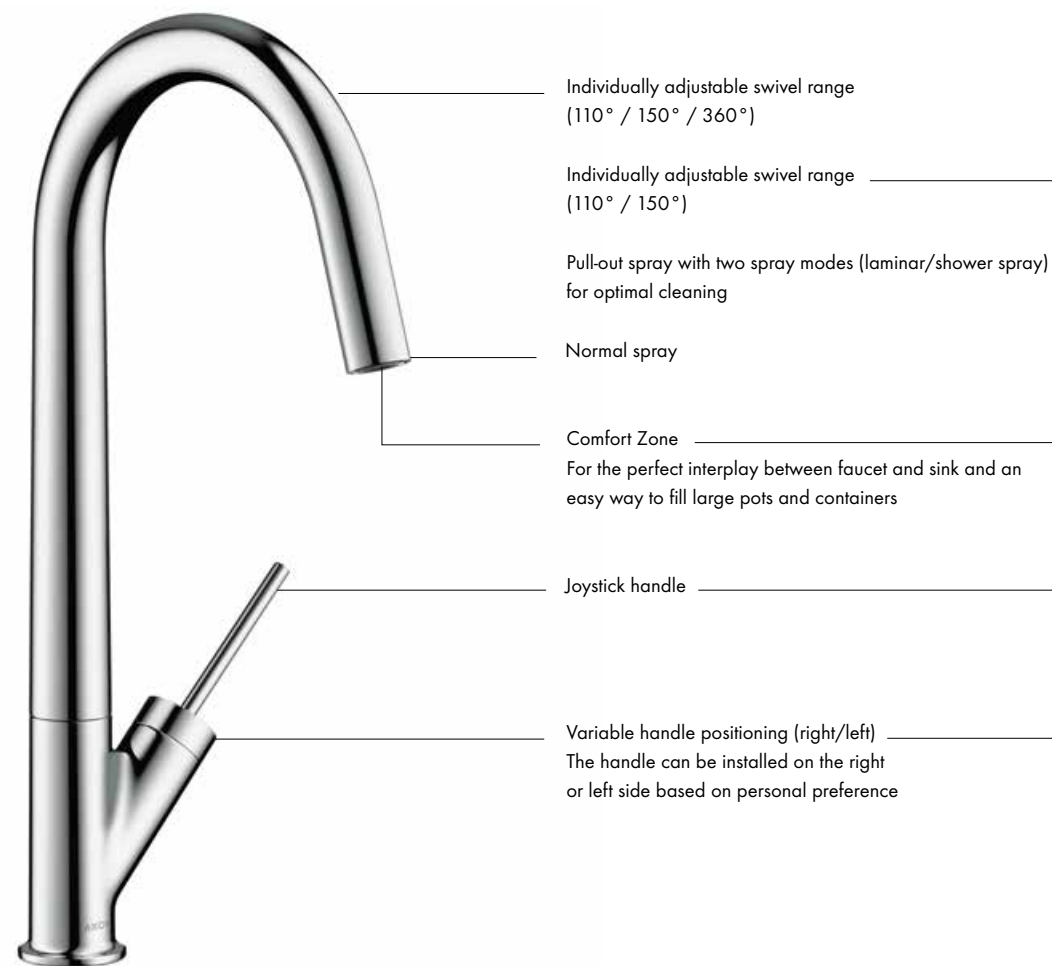

Philippe Starck has been generating “aha” moments and setting international standards with his design since the 1980s, and has collaborated with AXOR on bathroom design for over 25 years.

Born in Paris in 1949, the son of a French aircraft engineer and inventor, Philippe Starck studied interior architecture and design at the École Nissim de Camondo in Paris. In 1976, he founded the company “Starck Product.” Designing the private rooms of Francois Mitterrand in the Élysée Palace made him famous, while the Café Costes in Paris made him an international star. In 1995, he created a new category with the Delano boutique hotel in Miami: design hotels. Starck has always been successful in international residential projects. Philippe Starck creates outstanding apartments under the name ‘Yoo’ in unique locations all over the world.

In 2000, he received the National Order of the Legion of Honour—and was the first Frenchman to ever be invited to speak at the legendary TED Conferences.

Philippe Starck

Inspired by an ancient icon, the archetypal well pump, AXOR Starck evokes humanity's original connection to water. Elementary shapes reflect the clarity of function. Authentic Refinement.

Stairway House by Nendo, Tokyo

After seeing staircases become lively meeting places in two of his public projects, Oki Sato designed a “staircase-like structure” as the central element. Functional yet poetic, this house in Shinjuku, Tokyo, shows that available space should not just be optimized, but enhanced with character, meaning and soul.

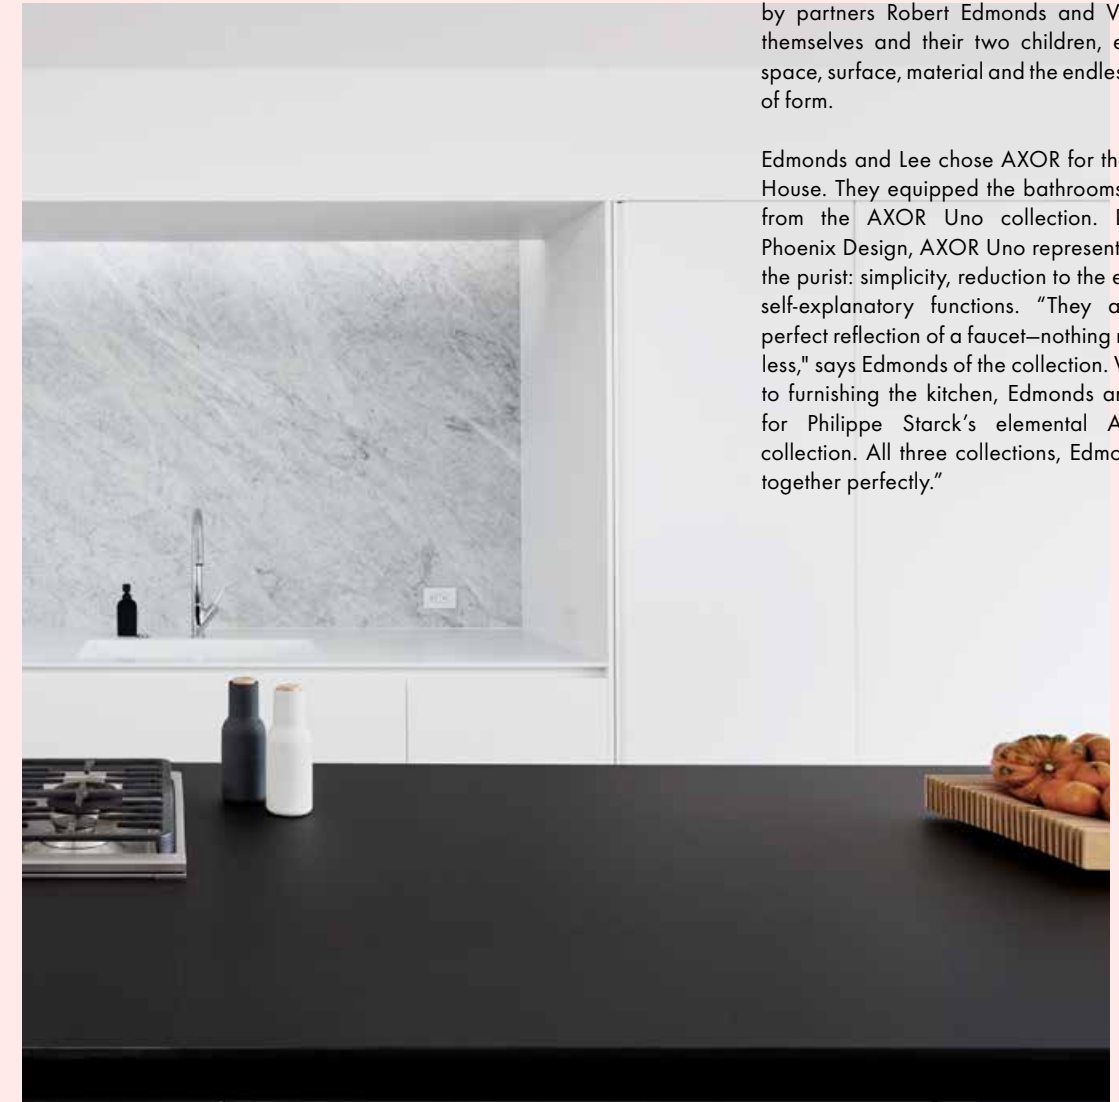

The AXOR Citterio M and AXOR Citterio E collections, designed by Antonio Citterio, perfectly match the subtle poetic mood of the Stairway House. AXOR Citterio E is characterized by an elegant balance of precise angles and sensuous curves. AXOR Citterio M, with its streamlined and slender shapes, suits compact areas and urban spaces perfectly. The AXOR Citterio M 220 two-hole kitchen mixer is used in both kitchens at the Stairway House. All AXOR products are finished in the special Brushed Black Chrome surface—one of up to 15 AXOR FinishPlus surface finishes.

Switchback House, Edmonds & Lee, San Francisco

San Francisco-based design, development, and architecture firm Edmonds + Lee Architects is internationally known for its modern approach to homes and living. The Switchback House, designed by partners Robert Edmonds and Vivian Lee for themselves and their two children, explores light, space, surface, material and the endless possibilities of form.

Edmonds and Lee chose AXOR for the Switchback House. They equipped the bathrooms with faucets from the AXOR Uno collection. Designed by Phoenix Design, AXOR Uno represents the ethos of the purist: simplicity, reduction to the essentials and self-explanatory functions. “They are simply a perfect reflection of a faucet—nothing more, nothing less,” says Edmonds of the collection. When it came to furnishing the kitchen, Edmonds and Lee opted for Philippe Starck’s elemental AXOR Starck collection. All three collections, Edmonds says, “fit together perfectly.”

The Jane, Antwerp, Belgium

A restaurant that gives new impetus to the idea of food as a spiritual experience. Housed in a renovated chapel, The Jane combines revelatory gastronomy with the radiance of Piet Boon's interior design. The 80-person dining area is located directly in front of an open kitchen, the workspace of The Jane founders Sergio Herman and Nick Bril—both of whom have multiple Michelin stars. Where an altar once stood, today, a no less devotional and sometimes ecstatic ritual is revealed: "I do a dance when I'm at the stove that I never did before," says Nick Bril, as he cleans splendid ingredients with the AXOR Citterio kitchen faucet—a well of perfection in Brushed Black Chrome.

Country House, Tristan Auer

Paris-based architect Tristan Auer describes himself as an "interior designer and emotional architect" and views himself as a director and his clients as participants in the leading role. As a counterpoint to his hectic life in the city and abroad, Auer likes to retreat to his country home in Normandy, where he works, fishes and spends time with family and friends. He immediately felt connected to the country house and its history. The previous owners bought the house in the 1960s and used it as a base for fishing and hunting. One of the previous owners was an avid painter; her talent is reflected in the interior design of the house. After purchasing the property, Auer decided to work with the existing furnishings rather than replace them, and found that the limitations led to an entirely new and inspiring experience. Although many aspects remained unchanged, he was looking for high-quality, perfectly designed objects for the kitchen and bathroom, with aesthetics that remained respectful of the era of the house. Naturally, AXOR Montreux in Chrome was the obvious choice. The collection, created with exceptional craftsmanship and attention to detail, gives the country house a distinctive charm and fits perfectly.

The Audo, Copenhagen, Denmark

In Nordhavn, Copenhagen's old industrial port, new life has been breathed into a neo-baroque building from the early 20th century. The Audo, as it is now called, hosts and celebrates human encounters in the global, digital age. Bjarne Hansen, founder of Danish design firm MENU, and Jonas Bjerre-Poulsen, co-founder of Norm Architects, conceived The Audo as a hybrid space: a platform that brings together local and international creatives—over a drink, a meal, a project, or simply sharing an aesthetic experience. The Audo platform features a restaurant, café, collaboration and events space, concept store and more. International visitors, however, will appreciate it above all as a unique hotel. Each of the ten rooms is individually designed in the warm, 'soft minimalist' style for which Norm Architects is known. All rooms are equipped with AXOR Uno (Brushed Bronze & Brushed Brass) with Signature customization. In the kitchen, AXOR Citterio is presented in Brushed Black Chrome. Merging the boundaries between work, shopping, home and hospitality, The Audo fosters a new kind of creative exchange, to which AXOR is a major contributor. The approach can be nicely summed up in a Latin phrase, from which The Audo derives its name: "Ab Uno Disce Omnes"—From one learn all.

Hotel Villa Copenhagen, Copenhagen, Denmark

From a post office to a luxury hotel—this is the evolution that the Hotel Villa Copenhagen has gone through up to its opening in summer 2020. The charming building right next to Copenhagen Central Station includes 390 rooms, a spa, a cocktail and wine bar, and a rooftop terrace with a pool and vegetable garden, all with quality and sustainability in mind, including consumption and materials. A vision that is also reflected in the choice of products in the bathrooms where AXOR adorns the sinks, bathtubs and shower spaces. As an additional luxury detail, some of the AXOR faucets are specially equipped with Shamballa diamond handles. AXOR Citterio is also used in the Shamballa Suite as a kitchen faucet in Brushed Black Chrome, completing the thoughtful and tailored interior design.
